

ARXANTANA[®] THERAPEUTICS

A pioneer in pet therapeutics.

Aratana's mission is to deliver safe and effective therapeutics that elevate the standard of care in veterinary medicine. Our goal is to work with companion animal veterinarians to bring new therapeutics to market that support the needs of pets and their owners.

INNOVATIVE THERAPEUTICS FOR DOGS AND CATS

We're at the intersection of human and veterinary medicine.

Historically, there has been a lack of resources available to develop medical treatments for pets with acute and chronic diseases. As a result, some would say progress in veterinary medicine lags years behind the scientific breakthroughs seen in human health. This innovation gap between human science and veterinary medicine was the primary reason Aratana Therapeutics was founded in 2010 in the heart of the Kansas City Animal Health Corridor.

We have a team committed to pet health.

Experts with decades of experience in animal health, human health, biotechnology, as well as top veterinarians and business experts, have paired their expertise in discovery, development and commercialization with a lifelong love for pets. The Aratana team is collaborative, innovative and empowered to help raise the standard of care for pets.

We're developing a robust portfolio of novel therapeutics.

(capromorelin oral solution)

nocita
(bupivacaine liposome injectable suspension)

Galliprant
(grapiprant tablets)

And we're beginning to bend the innovation curve.

From 2012 to 2017, there were only four new chemical entities approved as pet therapeutics* by the FDA's Center for Veterinary Medicine for use by veterinarians that were not previously fully approved in humans or animals – a drop in the bucket compared to human advances. Aratana developed two of the four new chemical entities and continues to strive to improve treatment options available to veterinarians. Our pipeline also includes therapeutic candidates for various diseases and conditions.

*FDA fiscal years 2012-2017; excludes parasiticides
